Things to Note for Decking. And things that normal carpenters will not know.

Whether you are building a new decking or re-doing an old decking there are a number of important things to keep in mind.

- Moisture is the #1 killer of a new deck. If you are burying wooden fence posts be sure to treat the ENTIRE buried portion with black tar sealant or some other form of sealant. You can't use too much. Make sure that the fence post end grain is TOTALLY saturated with sealant or it will draw moisture inside, and rot your posts in just a few months.
- Be sure that your wood is as dry as possible. If you're using wet wood, you will find that your boards will crack, twist and take on a life of their own. This can happen with dry wood as well (after you cut it), but it isn't as dramatic.
- COMMON PROBLEMS WITH DECK: WARP, ROT, AND TERMITE.
  - How do we prevent it? There are ways to prevent, if we didn't do the necessary steps while installation, and choosing the source of the Timber.
  - Our 10 years warranty shows our CONFIDENCE in our product and in safeguarding our clients interest and investment.
